“Higher education should provide an environment to test new ideas, debate theories, encounter challenging information, and figure out what one believes”. Kirsten Powers

Education in any society is one of the most effective agencies of critical enlightenment. New questions, New answers, New possibilities, New visions and understanding of democratic order beyond ritualisation are those aspects which make education humanistic. In Indian Society if one gives importance to Constitutional morality then we need that kind of education which attacks on patriarchy, casteism and parochial tendencies in order to cope with change. This argument was put forth by one of the founders of ISSA, Professor Rajeshwar Prasad.

*Indian Social Science Association (ISSA), is more than 50 years old inter disciplinary professional body engaged in promotion of Social Sciences with the motto “समाज रक्ष सर्वदा”. The founders of Indian Social Science Association (ISSA) set high academic standards and promoted new ideas, new answers, new possibilities through debates, dialogue and writings. The Association catalyses effective social dialogue between Academia, Civil Society and Industry to elicit discerning Insights on Society, Sustainability, Accountability.

*The Government has implemented the New Education Policy – NEP 20 and it has thus become imperative to rethink and rework Social Science Theory and Research. To carry forward the legacy and in light of the NEP 20 ISSA has associated with and Madhyanchal Sociological Society (MSS) for a Webinar on “Dynamics of NEP: Rethinking Future of Social Sciences & Research” tentatively on DECEMBER 09 – 10, 2023 and YOUNG SOCIAL SCIENTIST AWARD CONTEST and OPEN CONTEST FOR BEST PAPER.
